After High Opening London Selling Changed Sentiment.

A SLUMP IN LEATHER.

Sugar, Too, Marked by Weakness, but Pennsylvania and Federal Steel Gained.

Wall Stret, Nov. 27. The stock market to-day was a decided disappointment to the speculators who reasomed that the increase in the surplus reserves of the banks would be followed by pressed in $1,000s, and range of prices: an immediate rise in prices. Sentiment was decidedly mixed, even during the early part of the session, when decided gains in some securities were offset by declines in other parts of the market. The two developments of the day which had the most influence upon the market were the rise in sterling exchange and the statement of St. Paul for the month of October, which showed a decrease in net earnings of $229.471. Money ruled comparatively easy, with most of the call foans of the day being made at 6 per cent. The advance in the London private discount rate day being made at 6 per cent. The advance in the London private discount rate is this development in particular which was responsible for the rise in rates. It is this development in particular which must prevent any permanent reduction in the interest rates in this market.

At the opening the features were Union some securities were offset by declines in 227

Traders were the principal sellers of the stock market. The short interest as a result was largely extended. With very insignificant holdings by the public there can be little realizing except by the larger interest, which, on the contrary, now seems inclined to work for higher prices. It certainly seems to be part of a concerted plan by these interests to have as little "company" as possible on the way up. This may be one reason for the market selling off when the general sentiment is that it should go up or vice versa. Wall Street must content itself with 6 per cent money as the lowest rate for the present, as a steady rate below that, would certainly be followed by gold exports to Europe.

day being made at 6 per cent. The advance in the London private discount rate created a demand for sterling bills here which was responsible for the rise in rates. It is this development in particular which must prevent any permanent reduction in the interest rates in this market.

At the opening the features were Union Pacific, Pennsylvania and Baltimore & Obio preferred. The two former were dealt in very heavily and with very pronounced gains, which, however, in the case of Union Pacific, were lost before the day was over, while Pennsylvania closed 2½ net higher, at 135. Baltimore & Obio preferred sold up to 85 on initial transactions, later deciling to 82, closing with a net loss of 1½, at 82½. While these three railway securities were leading the upward movement in the market, Leather common was again selected by the bears as a "club" with which to hold the strong stocks in check. This movement was successful in so far as unsettling the balance of the list. Under large transactions the stock was forced off to 14½, closing at 16, with a net loss of 4 points. Sugar was likewise very weak, declining almost from the opening of trading, but with its principal sump occurring later in the day, when it sold at 154, closing with a net decline of 4 points, at 154%.

The effect of the statement of St. Pau was fet in the closing hour of the session. Traders were the principal sellers, atthough the loss of 1 point net, to 124%, was the same as the decline in Archison preferred, which occurred is sues, General Electric American Electric American Linseed Issues, American Tin Plate preferred, Peoria, Decault & Evansville, National Biscuit preferred, Manhattan, Metropolitain, Wheeling & Lake Ere Issues and American Steel Hoop Issues were strong, closing with substantial advances. The steel and fron stocks were bought principally on reports of dividend declaration immediately after the first of the year. The close was heavy.

Although money is in active use here and the surplus amounts lying idle in the banks comparatively small, the statistics of the Government show that there is more gold coin in the United States now than ever before. When the money which has been sent to the interior is returned here in larger volume the United States can easily spare some of its gold for Europe. In fact, it would be an excellent indication of the financial strength of this country if Europe should find that this was the only source from which relief could be obtained for its money stringency.  In the bank statement of Saturday the principal gain in the reserves was by the National City Bank. Most of the other institutions reporting to the Clearing House Association held but slightly more cash above the legal requirements than during the week previous. This can hardly be considered a healthy sign, as the National City Bank has been recently guilty of the most palpable manipulation of the money market for the benefit of the large interests identified with its management. As the increased cash holdlings resulted mainly from the sale of bonds to the Government, the pla'in ference of the bank statement is that most of these bonds were sold by individuals or corporations whose business was transacted through the National City Bank. Although money is in active use here and the surplus amounts lying idle in the banks comparatively small, the statistics of the Government show that there is more gold coin in the United States now than ever before. When the money which has been sent to the interior is returned here in larger volume the United States can easily spare some of its gold for Europe. In fact, it would be an excellent indication of the financial strength of this country if Europe should find that this was the only source from which relief could be obtained for its money stringency.  In the bank statement of Saturday the principal gain in the reserves was by the National City Bank. Most of the other institutions reporting to the Clearing House Association held but slightly more cash above the legal requirements than during the week previous. This can hardly be considered a healthy sign, as the National City Bank has been recently guilty of the most palpable manipulation of the money market for the benefit of the large interests identified with its management. As the increased cash holdings resulted mainly from the sale of bonds to the Government, the plan inference of the bank statement is that most of these bonds were sold by individuals or corporations whose business was transacted through the National City Bank. The payments at the Sub-Trensury yesterday for bonds, including principal, interest and premium, was $556,531.37. Total to the St. Paul was alone unfavorable. In reality the figures presented by the St. Paul road include very large expenditures	ON THE CURB. 106 14 6	is the international medium of exchange, will be toward the country or the financial centre where the best interest rates prevail. Although money is in active use here and the surplus amounts lying idle in the banks comparatively small, the statistics of the Government show that there is more gold coin in the United States now than ever before. When the money which has been sent to the interior is returned here in larger volume the United States can easily spare some of its gold for Europe. In fact, it would be an excellent indication of the financial strength of this country if Europe should find that this was the only source from which relief could be obtained for its money stringency.  In the bank statement of Saturday the principal gain in the reserves was by the National City Bank. Most of the other institutions reporting to the Clearing House Association held but slightly more cash above the legal requirements than during the week previous. This can hardly be considered a healthy sign, as the National City Bank has been recently guilty of the most palpable manipulation of the money market for the benefit of the large interests identified with its management. As the increased cash holdings resulted mainly from the sale of bonds to the Government, the plan inference of the bank statement is that most of these bonds were sold by individuals or corporations whose business was transacted through the National City Bank. The payments at the Sub-Trensury yesterday for bonds, including principal, interest and premium, was $556,531.37. Total to the St. Paul was alone unfavorable. In reality the figures presented by the St. Paul road include very large expenditures	ON THE CURB.  Trading in the outside security market was dull and irregular, with quotafions at the close showing a few more declines than advances. Amsterdam Gas was one of the features of the day's trading. It sold down to 26%, but later reacted to 27½ bid, a net loss of 2 points. Electric Boat and Standard Oil were up one point each to 22 and 456, respectively, and Electric Axle and Distilleries of America preferred, declined ¼ of a point each. Other changes were New York Vehicle down ½ to 7: Woolien Goods preferred up ½, to 80; Havana Commercial preferred down ¾ to 61¾, and Distilleries of American common up 7%. to 11½.
